

A Cedar Chest Will Serve Two Needs

Have you been worrying, lest moths might get into and ruin the fluffy wool blankets, the handsome coats and furs, that you put away this summer with such care in the spare-room closet? Could you use an extra window seat for the living-room, the hall or the den?

Well, then, here is a handsome piece of furniture that will admirably serve both needs. It's a Cedar Chest of finest Tennessee red cedar in the natural color, all hand rubbed and polished. It's moth-proof, dust-proof and vermin-proof.

The price? Scarcely more than you would pay for one pair of wool blankets to replace the moth-eaten ones. Cedar Chests from $13.00 to $30.00.

M. S. GRADUATES TEACHERS.

Rev. A. W. Hewitt of Plainfield Was the Speaker.

The graduating exercises of the teacher training class of Montpelier seminary took place Tuesday afternoon in the chapel of the institution, attended by the student body, many friends and relatives.

Rev. A. W. Hewitt delivered the address to the class. He took as his theme "The Little Red Schoolhouse and the Little Green Boy." He told the part which the schoolhouse played in the life of the nation and the place it will assume in the coming years. His was a very interesting topic, giving many points of information. Miss Clara Robinson, who has taught the class for the last two years, will not return to the school work and then he related the part which the little red schoolhouse has to-day in the education of the great men of the nation and the place it will assume in the coming years.

The chapel was very tastefully decorated in the class colors of gold, while the class flower, the field daisy, was also used in the ornamentations. The class motto is "A place in the ranks awaits us." The officers are: President, Nella Perry Tilton; vice-president, Josie Evelyn Davis; secretary, Vera Elizabeth Rogers; treasurer, Dorothy Harriet Newman.

The other members of the class are Cora May Chamberlain, Doris Annie Gallagher, Mabel Ruth Goodwin, Ruth Ernestine Norton, Hazel Grace Pierce, Dorothy Julia Smith. Each girl has been engaged to teach this fall.

The program was: Invocation, Rev. John W. Hatch, D. D.; chorus, "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn); reading, "The House by the Side of the Road" (Sam W. Foss); Miss Tiltonson; class history, Miss Newman; applied quotations, Miss Rogers; essay, "Changed Views," Miss Davis; chorus, "Sleep Little Treasure" (Lithuanian folk song); "Faith is Spring" (Schert); class prophecy, Miss Goodwin; class prophecy, Miss Gallagher; presentations, Misses Norton and Pierce; class will, Miss Chamberlain; reading, "The Source" (Henry Van Dyke); Miss Smith; chorus, "National Hymn" (Horatio Parker); address, Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt, who also awarded the certificates.

Prize Speaking at Montpelier Seminary. The annual prize speaking of Montpelier seminary took place Tuesday evening in the chapel of the institution, with a large number of the relatives and friends of the contestants attending the affair as well as many townspeople who are interested in the seminary commencement.

This year, owing to the shortage of boy speakers, only one boy's prize was awarded and that went to Warren P. Waldo, who spoke, "Two Pairs of Shoes," while the girls' prizes were awarded thus: First, Miss Annie L. Killiam, who recited "The Angels of Buena Vista"; second, Miss Eunice M. Stevens, who gave "The Hundred and One"; third, Miss Goodwin, who spoke "The Coward," and Henry Fuller, who recited "The Death of Garfield." All of those taking part spoke well and the judges had close work in making their decisions.

During the program musical selections were rendered. These included an organ solo, "Andantino" (Lengere), by Miss Pearl Bliss; piano duet, "Dance of the Fairies" (Saint-Saens), Misses Jessie Sweet and Martha Morse.

Elbridge Harvey and Miss Lulu White, two Hardwick young people, were united in marriage at the Congregational parsonage last Saturday evening before a few friends by Rev. Charles Wattle. The young people have begun housekeeping on the Harvey farm in No. 10 district.

Gordon HOSIERY

H300 is one of the Gordon Hosiery numbers it pays to remember.

This is a Pure Silk stocking of beautiful, lasting lustre, possessing unusual wearing qualities.

S275 is another popular number you will like.

It is made of Japan Silk and fibre Silk, so skillfully combined that all the richness of the silk is retained. The tops, heels and toes are made of fine, strong, mercerized yarn. It is a stocking that will wear splendidly.

As with all Gordon Hosiery the fine appearance of these numbers is enhanced by perfection of fit. The ankles are tight, while the tops flare to correct proportions — stockings of refinement and character.

Gordon Hosiery for men, women and children may be obtained at almost every store.

Adams Company

HARDWICK

A large audience attended the closing or graduating exercises of Hardwick academy at the opera house last Friday evening.
